

Prioritizing Patient Affordability

Our Patient Support Programs

Sanofi takes pride in developing new life-saving medicines and ensuring access for those who need them most. We have a suite of innovative, patient-informed programs to help reduce prescription medicine out-of-pocket costs.

Each of our programs is tailored to specific patient community needs, and we are continually listening to patients, advocates, and caregivers to address ongoing or emerging challenges. Sanofi educates patients and providers about these programs, and we continue to review and evolve our programs to better serve and improve affordability for patients.

We also provide free medications to qualified low- and middle-income patients as part of a number of Patient Assistance Programs across our therapeutic areas, including Sanofi Patient Connection.

Every patient has unique circumstances. Sanofi has live support specialists who can be reached at (855) 984-6302 to answer individual patient questions and navigate their unique situation to find the best resources and programs that help lower their out-of-pocket costs.

Insulin has long been in the spotlight as an area where the out-of-pocket burden on people with diabetes is unacceptable.
